Authors

Francesco Contini is senior researcher at the Research Institute of Judicial Systems, National Research Council, Bologna, Italy.

Marco Fabri is senior researcher at the Research Institute on Judicial Systems, National Research Council, Bologna, Italy and co-chair of the studygroup on management and delivery of justice of the European Group of Public Administration. See: http://www2.law.uu.nl/sbr/mdj/

Mirjam Freudenthal is senior researcher at the Molengraaff Institute of Civil Law, Utrecht University, the Netherlands.

Conceição Gomes is executive director and senior researcher at the Permanent Observatory on Portuguese Justice and senior researcher at the Centre for Social Studies, Coimbra, Portugal.

Morten S. Hagedal is a project manager at the Court Administration, Oslo, Norway

Philip M. Langbroek is senior researcher at the Institute of Constitutional and Administrative Law, Utrecht University, the Netherlands, and co-chair of the studygroup on management and delivery of justice the European Group of Public Administration. See: http://www2.law.uu.nl/sbr/mdj/

Christopher Menzies LL.B (Hons) is a Solicitor and Senior Lecturer, at Anglia Polytechnic University, Chelmsford, England. He is also a Crown Prosecutor.

Marcel Proulx is general director of the École Nationale de l’Administration Publique, Québec, Canada.

Irene Sigismondi is researcher at the Research Institute of Judicial Systems, National Research Council, Bologna, Italy.

Georg Stawa (1969) is an Austrian judge since 1999, assigned to the Ministry of Justice, Vienna, member of unit PR 1 (general coordination) and PR 6 (office law and personnel controlling), Austria.