

Focus base

By turning your phone into a productivity tracker, Focusbase creates a distraction free workplace. Boost your work performance!

Focus Session

Work distraction-free! Focusbase is a wireless charging stand for your phone that helps you to use it less and focus more on being productive. Two front panels hide notifications and disable the home button making your phone useless. A previously set focus goal appears front and center and always shows how you're doing in closing that ring.

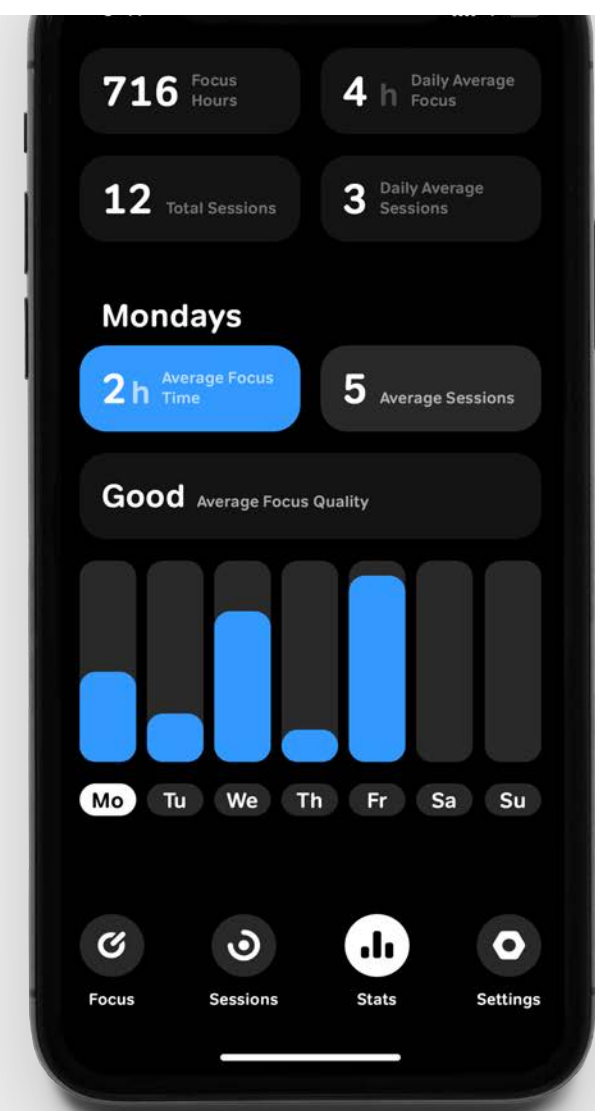

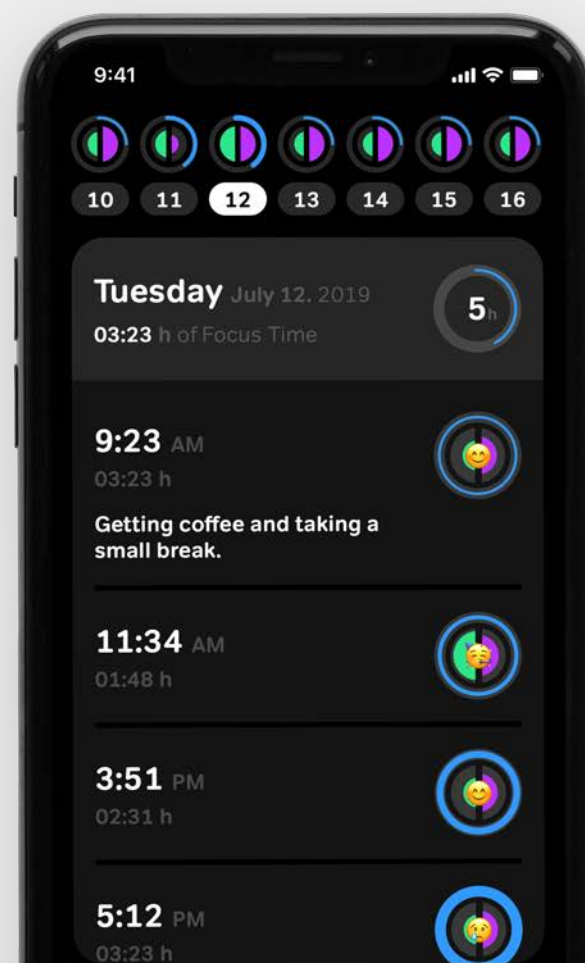

Reflection

Collect essential data after every focus session. Three sliders, energy, calm, and focus quality let you quickly reflect on your session. Familiar emoji help you understand the essential components that make up your mood.

Sessions

See all your sessions at a glance. A calendar view on top of the screen lets you easily navigate by weeks to find the session you are looking for. Blue focus rings indicate whether you reached your goal or not. The simple visualization of half circles shows you your mood states based on energy and calm levels.

Statistics

Using statistics, you can do more with the data you collect from your sessions. Compare average performances across weekdays and gain insights into your own way of working to get even better.
