

first the region: rehabilitated landscapes of mitigation, a more consistent water system, then the region with the camp: more economy and better services, then the camp, productive and autonomous implementation of a progressive strategy for the camp incrementation: actors involvement through time and evolution of the landscape infrastructures

Shaping of a camp within a regenerated region: from the temporary settlement to the first production infrastructures, connected through green, blue and grey networks