Het Wolvenplein
Prison
1856 - 2014
Contents

1 | Narrative Research
2 | Construction of a program
3 | Architectural formulations
4 | Wolvenplein
Narrative Research

The Prison as conflict container urban challenge
The Prison as conflict container
The Prison as conflict container
The Prison as conflict container
The Prison as urban challenge

Reflecting the city Connecting with the city Collecting the city Negating the city

a microcosm of the city
The Prison as urban challenge

a time capsule
The Prison as urban challenge
The Prison as urban challenge

urban control
Construction of a program

the city
Construction of a program

the street as organizer (and controller)
Construction of a program

Wolvenplein as collector and organizer (controller)
Construction of a program

reshaping the gallery from control to spectacle
Construction of a program

reshaping the gallery from austere to melting pot
Construction of a program

reshaping the gallery from subjugation to negotiation re-establishing the connection between action and meaning

Construction of a program

reshaping it from a gallery to a street

Architectural formulations

the wall as space generator

Christian Kerez
Architectural formulations

The corner as a negotiation of space
Architectural formulations

The corner as a negotiation of space

the wall as space generator
Architectural formulations

the wall as separator
Architectural formulations

the wall as accommodator Wolvenplein
or redefining the architecture of control axonometric section: north wing, cells axonometric section: north wing, beyond cells