Establish a Boundary of European Capital

2 Entrance tower - an infinite library

After the revolutions in Europe, the European Union is standing for the unity of European countries at the stage of the world. After the revolutions of European Union, the independence of European countries was transformed into the political construction. At this time, the Unification of Europe and its role in the world is more prominent in the future. The European Union, which was a European idea, has been internationally recognized and eventually transformed into a European identity. The European Union has been an essential aspect of European history, and it has not been possible to imagine European history without the European Union. The European Union is the most important achievement of Europe.

This project was inspired by the idea of a European union. In the European Union, the idea of a European library is a possible solution for the European identity. The library is a place where knowledge is stored and shared. The library is also a place where people can meet and interact. The library is a place where ideas can be exchanged and developed. The library is a place where the future can be imagined. The library is a place where the past can be remembered. The library is a place where the present can be experienced. The library is a place where the future can be created.

The library takes the focus space as the central space of a circular continuous corridor in the whole building. The floor space is divided into several enclosed rooms as well as the dense bookshelves outside in a spiral way and creates a 'tower space'.

3 Section and plans

4 Perspectives

While you are standing under the vertical wall of the book space, you will sense the power of the library space and the uniqueness of the building. The building creates a circular continuous corridor encircling the dense bookshelves, allowing you to experience the space from the inside and the outside. You can see the building from the outside and the inside.

With a smooth movement, you pick up a book and go to the reading place, through the valve, which is a kind of matrix, by which you can be transported to the next part of the reading space. The valve is a kind of gateway, which connects the inside and outside of the library. The valve is a kind of portal, which is a symbol of the transition. The valve is a kind of transition, which is a symbol of the transition.

From both sides of the book space, you can see the sky. The light penetrates through the sky, creating a high ceiling space, which is open and free. The light penetrates the sky, creating a high ceiling space, which is open and free. The light penetrates the sky, creating a high ceiling space, which is open and free.