Thermal distribution through the building mass