Reclaiming Istanbul - Changing the meaning of an old factory into a public space

1. Revive the public sphere by redefining the relations between public space and the institutions
2. Integration of landscape, program & people

- Public Artifact

- Define the volumes on the site
- Make the borders of the volumes permeable for people & public space turning it into an infrastructural element
- Position the institutions around this infrastructure
- Weaken the borders between the qualitative context and the contents of the volume
